SATURDAY * OCTOBER 20

COLLEGES NINE & TEN MULTIPURPOSE ROOM, UCSC

A DAY OF INTERACTIVE WORKSHOPS, PRESENTATIONS, HANDS-ON ACTIVITIES & MORE

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

Choose one workshop in each block:

BLOCK ONE: 1:00PM - 2:15PM

Showing Up for the Transgender Community: Allyship in a Transphobic Society Namaste Lounge

This interactive, panel-style workshop will educate cisgender people about the complex intricacies of allyship to the transgender community, and explore the responsibility and accountability of cisgender individuals in allyship to transgender people. Tangible action items will be offered to counter and dismantle transphobic language, policies, and structures.

DACA and TPS in the Trump Era Social Sciences 1, Room 110

The Trump administration has been using both DACA and TPS to wage a war on immigration. A panel of speakers will respond to audience questions and provide resources and tips on how to be an ally to the undocumented community.

Protesting 101 Terry Freitas Cafe

Students can be a driving force for social change! In this workshop we will share practical tips and methods for organizing, mobilizing and participating safely in protests. We will provide a historical context and compare past methods to current practices. Empower yourself with the tools, knowledge, and resources to plan actions for your community or cause.

The Untold Story: Life After Incarceration Social Sciences 2, Room 71

Harsh barriers persist against formerly incarcerated individuals, including limited access to financial aid, job certifications, public housing, and other resources. This workshop aims to break stigmas and inform attendees about ways in which formerly incarcerated and/or system-impacted persons can access higher education and other re-entry programs.

Food Systems and Critical Consumption Social Sciences 2, Room 75

Explore issues of local food access and the environmental and human impacts of our food systems. We will also discuss practical ways to critically consume food products to mitigate the damage that the food industry causes.

BLOCK TWO: 2:25PM - 3:40PM

Police Brutality and the Militarization of Police Namaste Lounge

James Burch from the Anti-Police Terror Project will explore the power dynamics and militarization that have led to police brutality, discuss the realities and impact of police forces on communities of color, and share resources that de-center the police when keeping communities safe.

Gentrification and Displacement in Santa Cruz County Social Sciences 1, Room 110

Santa Cruz is in the midst of housing crises brought by gentrification and displacement. This workshop aims to empower tenants and participants with resources informing them of their rights, and organizations they can get involved in to combat housing injustices. Questions of affordable housing and laws surrounding housing and rent will be discussed.

Intersectional Perspectives in the #MeToo Movement Terry Freitas Cafe

Focused on reframing the #MeToo movement with an intersectional lens, this workshop will shed light on the many communities that have historically been left without a voice in the fight against gender-based violence. The focus will primarily be on undocumented women, Indigenous women and students of color.

Environmental Refugee Crisis Social Sciences 2, Room 75

From natural disasters to rising climates to deforestation, many people are forced to leave their homelands. The reasons for and repercussions of this displacement are complex. Join speakers from the International Rescue Committee for a look at some of the social, political and environmental forces that create refugee crises. Learn about the refugee experience through a first-hand account and explore some of the local organizations that are serving refugees and the ways you can get involved.

MORNING KEYNOTE

CÉSAR CRUZ

From marching 76-straight miles, to hunger striking for 26 days, César has dedicated his life to fighting for justice. Cruz immigrated to South-Central L.A. from Mexico and became the first Mexican immigrant to receive his doctorate in Educational Leadership at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. He is the co-founder of the independent school, Making Changes, and has sought to create other autonomous education spaces. He currently oversees the Homies Empowerment Program serving gang-impacted/involved youth in Oakland.

AFTERNOON KEYNOTE

TERISA SIAGATONU

Terisa Siagatonu is an award-winning poet, arts educator, and community organizer born and rooted in the Bay Area. Her presence in the spoken word world as a queer Samoan womyn and activist has granted her opportunities to perform in places ranging from the White House to the UN Conference on Climate Change in Paris, France. She received President Obama's Champion of Change Award in 2012 for her activism as a spoken word poet/organizer in her Pacific Islander community.

CREATIVE ACTIVIST OPPORTUNITIES

10:30AM - 11:50AM & 3:30PM - 5:00PM

Anti-Blackness in POC Communities

The notion that communities of color are not discriminatory towards blackness is a myth that has lasted for generations. Learn how our communities internalize white supremacy so we can work to dissolve these ideologies.

De-Weaponizing Whiteness

Learn about weaponized whiteness and the serious consequences it can have on communities of color. Practice being a good ally as a white person and think critically about your relationship to your own whiteness.

Palestine: What's Happening?

Palestine seems to be filling the news lately. But what's really happening? Find out the role and history of the Israeli police-state, enforced apartheid, and US complicity in Palestinian oppression.

Button Making

Come design a personal button to show off your passion and practical activism! Create one to make a statement, highlight an issue important to you, honor an activist, and more!

Ignorance and Movement:

AIDS/HIV Epidemic

Learn the history of how the HIV/AIDS epidemic of the 1980's came to spread, and how the US government failed to help its citizens. See the different ways that activists fought for lifesaving research. Find out ways that you can protect yourself and your loved ones.

Pronouns: More Than Just a Preference

Pronouns. While some may think nothing of them, they may mean the world to someone else. Come by to learn about various pronouns, how to use them, and why they are important. Make a personalized button with your name and pronouns to wear throughout the conference!

Gold to Rust: Are the Olympics Worth It?

What happens after the Olympic games are over? Today, hosting the Olympics is seen as a burden. Learn how the Olympics have impacted the host cities economically and environmentally, while also getting a workout in.
